School Environment: Pullman is characterized by a low crime rate and diversity of people and activities. Eight miles east, the city of Moscow, Idaho, offers additional entertainment, social, and cultural activities. And while Pullman offers small-town living with world-class flavor, metropolitan life isn't far. Seattle, Portland, Boise, and Spokane are all within a day's drive or quick flight out of the Moscow-Pullman Regional Airport. Opportunities for camping, backpacking, biking, and winter sports abound. A half-dozen mountain ranges surround you, and the most extensive area of national forest land in the lower 48 states lies just to the east, as do Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks—all affording countless extraordinary opportunities for outdoor getaways.

School Focus/Strengths:

Washington State University offers an incredible array of outstanding academic programs—including several ranked among the best in the nation. In addition, you'll find cutting-edge computer labs, high-tech classrooms, and one of the largest library systems in the Pacific Northwest. In your first two years at Washington State you're likely to gain more exposure to real-world topics and experience than you would at most other schools. The curriculum you'll study as a freshman and sophomore has become a model for colleges and universities across the country. And the writing program—which will develop your writing skills regardless of your major—is ranked among the top thirteen in the nation by U.S. News and World Report.
